

JONATHAN SAUNDERS

Scottish born print designer Jonathan Saunders graduated from Glasgow School of Art in 1999 with a BA in Printed Textiles, going on to graduate from Central Saint Martin's in 2002 with an MA with distinction in Printed Textiles. Saunders' debuted his first collection for Spring Summer 2004 during London Fashion Week, receiving such praise that British Vogue featured the collection on the front cover of the January issue, an accolade not seen in over 15 years for non-advertisers.

Saunders skill in colour and textiles has seen him win several awards:

Lancôme Colour Awards, 2002

British Fashion Council - Fashion Enterprise Award, 2006

Elle Style Awards - Designer of the Year, 2009

Scottish Fashion Awards – Designer of the Year, 2010

Saunders coordinates designing his own label alongside consulting for some of the world's largest fashion houses, which have included:

Escada Sport, Pollini, Alexander McQueen, Chloe and Pucci.

Following nine on schedule shows in London, Saunders moved his catwalk show to New York in February 2008 and presented three shows as part of New York Fashion week. As a special invitation from the BFC for SS10, September 2009 fashion week, Saunders presented back in London for the 25th anniversary of London fashion week, where he continues to show today.